CLAS2M1 - Introduction

CLAS2M1 - Admission

For the specific conditions of this program : refer to the French version

General and specific admission requirements for this program must be satisfied at the time of enrolling at the university..

CLAS2M1 - Information

Learning outcomes

The Master in Ancient Languages and Literatures : Classics (60 credits) aims to give an advanced training in Greek and Latin Philology, which focuses on grammar, critical analysis of authors and comparative linguistics and culture.

On completing this master, students :

will be capable of literary and philological analysis in Greek and Latin;

will have developed an indepth reflection on a specific question in classics through their individual project.

Depending on the option which students choose, they will acquire more specialised skills (linguistic, literary or historical analysis) in either the Greek or Roman domain.

Teaching method

The different paths available to students allow them to shape their own training in line with their skills and interests and, in this way, to have relative autonomy in their training programme. The various different areas of study provide a series of coherent and high quality courses.

Interdisciplinarity is encouraged via the following methods : the student decides which options he will take in the Master (60 credits) (in making this choice, he will be guided by the programme's interdisciplinary courses which complement the more philological part of the training).

Variety of teaching methods (including e-learning) : use of multi-media for ancient languages.

Range of learning situations : individual and group work, seminars and lectures. Individual guidance for the individual final project (TFE).

Evaluation

The written and oral exams aim both to measure skills acquired as well as the student's communication skills and know-how. Some subjects, geared towards helping the student develop skills in research and personal criticism, are subject to presentations and discussions spread out over the year (permanent evaluation).

Courses are evaluated according to current university regulations (see General Examination Regulations). Students may find further information on specific evaluation methods in the course descriptions.

Mobility and/or Internationalisation outlook

No Erasmus exchange is planned for the master 60.

Courses in Greek or Latin language and literature can be borrowed from the programme of KULeuven, in line with the UCL-KULeuven agreement.

Possible trainings at the end of the programme

Accessible master :

[Master \[120\] in Ancient Languages and Literatures: Classics](#) Direct access to the second year of the master; training includes the Dissertation and the Dissertation seminar (30 credits), one focus and the possible further trainings (maximum 30 credits).

Links to the Teacher Training Certificate (upper secondary education) :

at the end of the Master in Ancient Languages and Literatures: Classics [60.0], the student can access the Teacher Training Certificate (upper secondary education) - Ancient Languages and Literatures : Classics [30.0].

Certificates
